

Indiana Philosophical Association
Spring Meeting
Saturday, 5 April 2003

322 STEW on the third floor of the Stewart Center (STEW)
adjacent to the Purdue Memorial Union (PMU)
Purdue University
West Lafayette, Indiana

Program Announcement

- 9:15 Coffee
- 10:00 What is Presentism?
Franklin Mason, Independent Scholar, Lafayette, Indiana
Commentator: Marthe Chandler, De Pauw University
- 11:00 Lockean Persons and Psychological Continuity
S. Liane Stillwell, Illinois State University
Commentator: Stephen J. Sullivan, University of Southern Indiana
- 12:00 Lunch
- 1:30 Business Meeting
- 2:00 Indiana Philosophical Association Distinguished Lecture
William L. Rowe, Purdue University
- 4:00 Conclusion

If approaching Purdue University from Interstate 65, take the exit for State Road 26 west, and either (i) proceed through town toward campus, taking State Road 26 to Main and thence to Columbia, and then over the bridge on State Street, or (ii) proceed around town to the north, then west, on US 52 (Sagamore Parkway) to Salisbury Street, thereby approaching campus from the north.

Those approaching via US 231 will end up on Northwestern (if driving from the north) or will intersect State Road 26/State Street (if from the south). See attached map.

If you have questions, please email or call Marthe Chandler at chandler@depauw.edu or (765) 658-4721

Indiana Philosophical Association

Spring 2003 Meeting

* Saturday, 5 April 2003 ****

Distinguished Lecturer Series

William L. Rowe

on

“Jonathan Edwards on Divine and Human Freedom”

2:00 PM

Saturday 5 April
322 STEWART CENTER
Purdue University

Public Invited

Morning Program:

- 9:30 Coffee and Refreshment
- 10:00 “What is Presentism?”
Franklin Mason, Independent Scholar
Commentator: Marthe Chandler, De Pauw University
- 11:00 “Lockean Persons and Psychological Continuity”
S. Liane Stillwell, Illinois State University
Commentator: Stephen J. Sullivan, University of Southern Indiana
- 12:00 Lunch