

Call for Papers

Fall Workshop on Socio-Political Philosophy

9 November 2019

Marian University, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Keynote Speaker:

William McBride (Purdue University)

The Indiana Philosophical Association invites papers addressing aspects of socio-political philosophy, broadly construed. Submitted papers should be (i) no more than 3000 words, (ii) prepared for blind review, and (iii) accompanied by a separate page that includes title, author information (name, affiliation, and contact information), and an abstract not exceeding 150 words. Materials should be submitted to Rob Luzecky at luzeckyr@pfw.edu.

The IPA welcomes continental, historical, and analytic approaches to socio-political philosophy. We encourage submissions that address any of: consensus building; the crucial importance of human solidarity to ameliorating the misery implied by the actions of state institutions; critiques of liberalism and neo-liberalism; elaborations of radical forms of democracy; elaborations or critiques of Marxism; critiques of the patriarchy; critical examinations of the difficulties associated with contemporary democracy, and; formulations of modalities of resistance.

The plight of marginalized groups and individuals has gained increasing relevance in socio-political thought. We especially encourage submissions from individuals who identify as members of groups currently underrepresented in philosophy and academia more generally.

Papers should be no more than 3000 words and prepared for blind review. Submissions should be sent to Rob Luzecky (luzeckyr@pfw.edu)

Deadline for submissions is 30 August 2019.

Decisions will be sent out no later than 27 September 2019.
